Pacific Union College in Angwin is reporting the highest on-campus enrollment since 1995.

This fall quarter, 1,634 students are enrolled at PUC's Angwin campus. Adding off-campus programs such as nursing in Napa brings the college's total enrollment to 1,674 students at the four-year school affiliated with the Seventh-day Adventist church.

The college said a higher percentage of last year's freshmen, sophomores, and juniors had returned, boosting enrollment.
